

How to make your own Crocheted Frisbee's

Submitted by Jackie Parker

Objective: These, "hand-crocheted," frisbees can be used in the classroom by teachers. They do not break things, nor do they hurt when they are caught. And YES, they fly TRUE!

Equipment needed:

- G or H crochet hook
- Yarn. I like to use the variegated colors to keep them looking interesting
- Scissors
- About 1 hour to make a Frisbee

Instructions: Start with chaining 10 stitches, approximately. Then hook them together to make a circle. Start crocheting in and out using an extra chain stitch for the first loop, two extra chain stitches for the second loop, etc. I like my Frisbee's to be tight, but loose Frisbees work, too. When you get the Frisbee to the width you desire, go around one more time, and reduce the chains by one or two. This will make the lip they can hold onto.

Helpful Hint:

The tighter your crochet them, the better they hold up.
